Introduction

About Erode District

Erode district is a district of Tamil Nadu state with its administrative headquarters located at Erode town. The district got its name from its headquarters town, Erode. There are several interesting stories associated with the name of the district. Probably, the name of the district is derived from the Tamil phrase Eru Odai meaning two streams based on the presence of two water courses, Perumpallam and Kalingarayan Canal. On the other hand some people believe that the name of the district is possibly taken from another Tamil phrase "Eera Odu" meaning wet skull and a very famous mythological story is related to this phrase. Earlier, the district of Erode was popularly known as Periyar district, a district under the Kongu Nadu region which was located at the western part of the Tamil Nadu state. The history of the district explains that in its early days, this area was occupied by tribes and most of the prominent among them was the "Kosars". These tribes were overpowered by the Rashtrakutas from whom the region directly went into the hands of the Cholas who ruled supreme during the time of Raja Chola. In this way the place was ruled by different rulers during different periods of time. In terms of geographical area it was the largest district in the state till the formation of Tirupur district and the headquarters of the district, Erode. The district came into existence on 31st August, 1979. Prior to the bifurcation of the Periyar district on 17th September, 1979, it was a part of the Coimbatore district. In the year 1996 the former Periyar district was renamed as Erode district.

Srinivasa Ramanujan Iyengar, an illustrious Indian mathematician and autodidact who made extraordinary contributions to mathematical analysis, number theory, infinite series, and continued fractions without having any formal training in pure mathematics was born on 22nd December, 1887 at Erode town.

Geographically, the district lies at 11°34'N latitude, 77°73'E longitude and 186m altitude. In the year 2021, there was a total 39.86% forest area of total geographical area. The district encompasses a geographical area of 5,760 sq. km. and it is bounded by Chamarajanagar district of Karnataka on the North, Tirupur district on the South, Kaveri River and districts of Salem, Namakkal and Karur on the East and Nilgiris district on the West. The climate of the district is characterised by mostly dry and good rainfall. Most of its rainfall occurs in the monsoon season. The actual rainfall in the district was 1126.6 mm in the year of 2022-23.

Administration wise, the district is divided into 9 taluks namely Anthiyur, Bhavani, Erode, Gobichettipalayam, Perundurai, Satyamangalam, Modakurichi, Kodumudi and Thalavadi. It comprises 59 towns and 306 villages. The administrative language in the district is Tamil.

According to 2011 census the district has a population of 22,51,744 out of which 11,29,868 are males and 11,21,876 are females. The district has a sex ratio of 993 (females for every 1000 males). During the year 2001-2011 the population growth rate in the district was -12.77% including -13.70% were males and -11.82% were females. As per 2011 census the major religion in the district is Hindu with 93.95% of the total population. The population density in the district is 391 persons per sq. km.
